

Team Leader (Nursing) Job Profile

(This role requires an enhanced DBS disclosure with barred list checks)

The purpose of this role is to:

You will provide leadership and day to day supervision within your support worker team, modelling excellent support and care, and effectively deploying the team and other resources so that the people your team supports experience excellent outcomes. You will ensure that people receive health care and treatment consistent with their Health Action plan and Care Plans.

These are the things you will do to make this happen:

You will organise the work of the support team so that people receive the right support at the time and level agreed.

You will provide direction to support workers appropriate to their level of experience and competence.

You will monitor the performance and promote the development of support workers in the team, providing regular supervision and appraisal, observing their practice and coaching them to develop new skills.

You will ensure that support workers act in accordance with regulations and Brandon Policy, instructing them and directing them towards appropriate sources of information.

You will actively support your Manager and the Trust in the development and implementation of plans to achieve and sustain excellence within your service.

You will supervise and monitor the proper and effective use of the financial and other resources available to the service

You will ensure that your manager receives such information concerning the welfare of people supported and the performance of employees that they require in order to fulfil their responsibilities.

You will carry out Nursing procedures in line with local or district guidelines

You will ensure your NMC registration is maintained

You will adhere to NMC code of Professional Conduct

You will take responsibility for your own professional growth

You will maintain your prep, requirements and pursue post basic qualifications

By doing the following things well you will be a role model for support workers:

All of your actions will demonstrate your respect for the rights of the people you support, and for their decisions and choices.

You will offer guidance and advice to people where it is in their best interest.

You will take steps to find out each person's preferred method of communication, listening to them and encouraging their communication.

You will provide physical care and assistance in accordance with people's agreed care plans, respecting their preferences and taking steps to preserve their dignity.

You will support people to achieve their personal outcomes.

You will coach people to develop new skills and recognise and use their talents.

You will help people to generate solutions to the problems they face, assisting them to find and use relevant information.

You will support people to maintain important relationships, which may require you to intervene to help resolve conflicts.

You will connect people you support with others with whom they have shared interests and ideas.

You will encourage people to value work, supporting them to find and maintain employment.

You will promote people's individuality, where necessary advocating on their behalf.

You will encourage and support people to exercise all of their rights, responsibilities and obligations as citizens.

You will take appropriate action to ensure that people you support are safeguarded from abuse.

You will assist people to access services and agencies necessary for their well being.

You will adventure with people, encouraging and assisting them to overcome barriers and try new things in a safe and supportive environment.

You will act in a professional manner, keeping good records, communicating effectively and sharing information as appropriate.

You will devote the whole of your working time, attention and abilities, to the people you are employed to support.

You will be an effective team member, co-operating with colleagues and other people in the best interest of the people you are employed to support.

You will understand and comply with the standards that you are required to work to and you will endeavour to exceed them.

You will comply with all relevant regulations in respect of Care Standards, Health, Safety and Environment.

You will dress and behave appropriately for the support role you are undertaking.

You will understand that this is not an exhaustive list of the things you will be required to do, and may vary within differing services.

As a good employer, Brandon Trust will:

- Ensure we have carried out an enhanced DBS disclosure with the appropriate barred check lists on your behalf.
- Provide supervision, appraisal, team meetings, training and access to career development opportunities.
- Seek to strengthen your skills and encourage self-development through creating a strong coaching and learning environment.
- Aim to provide good, timely information about Brandon Trust's activities and performance, and actively seek your ideas and feedback.

Safeguarding:

All employees have a duty to take appropriate and immediate action to:

- ensure people with learning disabilities are safeguarded from abuse and to
- report any instances of alleged abuse which you witness or become aware of.

Confidentiality and Data Protection:

All staff are required to comply with our policies regarding confidentiality and data protection.

Diversity:

Brandon Trust is committed to its diversity policy and practices and it is essential that the post holder is willing to make a positive contribution to their promotion and implementation.

Health and Safety:

The Health and Safety at Work Act 1974 placed a legal duty on employees to:

- Take reasonable care of themselves and others who may be affected by their acts or omissions.
- To co-operate with their employer.

The Management of Health and Safety Regulations 1999 increased these duties to include:

- To use equipment and materials in accordance with instruction and training provided by the employer.
- To report serious dangers or potential risks observed to the employer.

Failure to do these four things is an offence in law for which individuals can be fined and, may lead to disciplinary action within the Trust.

The Management of Health and Safety Regulations also require employees to be 'competent' when carrying out the tasks required by the employer. If you do not feel competent to carry out any task required of you, please discuss this with your line manager, the Learning and Development Manager or the Health and Safety Manager.
